

Abstract

A method for the simultaneous determination of cell proliferation inhibition activity and cell toxicity (induction of cell death) of a substance using a proliferating mammalian cell sample as a test system.

138015